GUMMIES

At HTC, we pride ourselves on being a leading supplier of vitamin gummies in the UK. This position has been obtained by providing our customers with premium quality products and extensive marketplace knowledge, resulting in sales of over 500 million gummies.

Nutritional gummies are a tasty and attractive looking dosage form of health supplements. They offer a novel form of delivery system for health supplements and are suitable for both adults and children.

Our gummies have been developed to include a variety of active ingredients and they are offered in various shapes and flavours depending on the formula. They are available in small bulk quantities or in finished packaging.
